

Quality Policy

The quality management system is an integral part of the Latvijas Finieris business and is fully integrated into the company's management processes.

The quality management system of Latvijas Finieris Group is developed to ensure the production and supply of high-quality products that are safe and harmless for people and the environment and are made according to the latest trends. It includes the continuous improvement of the quality of products or services provided or maintenance of the achieved quality level, improvement of services and production processes, promotion of product competitiveness, efficient use of resources, and the traceability of products and their raw materials in production processes.

The quality policy is binding for all companies of Latvijas Finieris Group.

The main principles of the Latvijas Finieris Group quality policy are as follows:

- Ascertain our customers' desires and deliver the product or service that matches them;
- Ensure that products, their manufacturing processes and the services they provide meet or exceed legal, standardised and/or best practice requirements;
- Recognising that quality assurance is about the individual contribution of each employee, inform and train employees regularly to increase their competence in the field of quality;
- Continuously improve the quality management system by setting and realising new goals.
